

THE RECORD OF ALL REPUBLICAN CONVENTIONS

Meeting This Week Will Be the Fifteenth National Gathering of the Party

SEVENTH TO BE HELD IN CHICAGO

First Convention in 1856 Nominated John C. Fremont and William L. Dayton

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 15.—The gathering of delegates at Chicago next Tuesday forms the fifteenth national convention held by the republican party since its birth in Pittsburgh more than half a century ago. The first convention was in Philadelphia in 1856, and Edward D. Morgan called it to order on June 17. Robert Emmett of New York was temporary chairman and Henry S. Lane of Pennsylvania permanent chairman, with David Willard as head of the committee on resolutions. The platform declared against the extension of slavery into new states and territories, demanded the admission of Kansas, and advocated the building of the Union Pacific railroad. The candidates nominated were John C. Fremont—beating John McLean of Ohio on the first ballot—and William L. Dayton of New York. The ticket was beaten by the democratic ticket nominated at St. Louis and headed by Buchanan.

The second, but in point of importance really the first, convention of the party was held in Chicago, assembling June 15, 1860. The platform declared for the preservation of the Union, denounced the extension of slavery, and advocated tariff laws "which would encourage the development of the industrial interests of the country." Abraham Lincoln was nominated for president on the third ballot and Hannibal Hamlin of Maine was nominated for vice president on the second ballot. This ticket was successful in the fall, easily beating the divided democracy.

The third republican convention met in Baltimore on June 7, 1864. The platform declared for the carrying on of the war, advocated a constitutional amendment forever prohibiting slavery anywhere in the Union, returned thanks to the federal soldiers and sailors, and endorsed the emancipation proclamation. Abraham Lincoln was nominated, receiving all the votes except those of Missouri, which were cast for Gen. Grant. Andrew Johnson of Tennessee was named for vice president. This ticket was successful at the polls.

The record of republican national conventions and candidates held since the close of the civil war is as follows:

Chicago, May 30, 1868—Ulysses S. Grant, of Illinois, and Schuyler Colfax of Indiana.

Philadelphia, June 5, 1872—Ulysses S. Grant, of Illinois, and Henry Wilson of Massachusetts.

Cincinnati, June 14, 1876—Rutherford B. Hayes, of Ohio, and William A. Wheeler, of New York.

Chicago, June 2, 1880—James A. Garfield, of Ohio, and Chester A. Arthur, of New York.

Chicago, June 8, 1884—James G. Blaine, of Maine, and John A. Logan, of Illinois.

Chicago, June 19, 1888—Benjamin Harrison, of Indiana, and Whitelaw Reid, of New York.

St. Louis, June 7, 1896—William McKinley, of Ohio, and Garrett A. Hobart, of New Jersey.

Philadelphia, June 19, 1900—William McKinley, of Ohio, and Theodore Roosevelt, of New York.

Chicago, June 21, 1904—Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, and Charles W. Fairbanks, of Indiana.

Chicago, June 16, 1908—William H. Taft, of Ohio, and James S. Sherman, of New York.

The convention this week will be the seventh that the republican party has held in Chicago. Of the republican candidates nominated in that city, Lincoln and Garfield were assassinated. Blaine died a disappointed, if not a heartbroken, man. Arthur, who succeeded Garfield, lived to realize

TWO OF THESE MEN ARE FOR TAFT. THE OTHER TWO FOR TEDDY. WILL THEY ALL SUPPORT THE REPUBLICAN PARTY'S NOMINEE?

The bitterness of feeling between the Taft and Roosevelt forces at Chicago and elsewhere, and the widely different principles to which the two factions subscribe, leads to the question whether or not the republican party can possibly unite this summer on one candidate and one set of principles. Above are shown some of the leaders of the opposing factions. Senator

Murray Crane of Massachusetts, and Congressman Bartholdt of Missouri, are Taft workers. Senator Borah, of Idaho, and Cecil Lyon, national committeeman from Texas, are fighting for Roosevelt.

CLUB ADVERTISES WARREN DISTRICT

Publicity Receiving Attention of Secretary of Commercial Club

Publicity is receiving more attention from the Commercial club. In addition to preparing the material for a folder and for the Arizona road map book, an article has been prepared for the Arizona-New Mexico statehood directors and one will be prepared for the memorial history of American civilization, this latter will be illustrated with a bird-eye view of the city recently taken and only put on display yesterday. Yesterday Mayor Williams brought to the office of the Commercial club a letter which he had received from Francis Trevelyan Miller asking for the preparation of an article on Bisbee, for the history which he is now completing. This will be embodied in the history without cost to the city or Commercial club and will be at once prepared by the secretary.

Yesterday the secretary mailed to the R. L. Polk company the introduction to the Bisbee section of the Arizona-New Mexico statehood directory. It is to be regretted by the club that when asked to take advertising space in this book about a month ago the funds could not be appropriated for that purpose. However, there are about 500 words descriptive of the city and its resources in the introduction which is published without expense.

In the preparation of the folder relative to the Borderland route through this section data as to distances, etc., is being compiled and in a short time this will be issued by the good roads advocates. A map and data is all that is required for the road map book and that will be completed this week, it is expected.

The full meaning of political ingratitude, Harrison, although renominated at Minneapolis, was defeated. The defeat of Grant in the convention which met in Chicago in 1880 was the occasion of a bitter feud in the republican party, and incidentally led to the defeat of the party four years later. Mr. Roosevelt was nominated in Chicago in 1904 and Mr. Taft in 1908. These two, of the seven standard bearers named by the republican party in Chicago conventions, are the only ones living.

So many of the contests before the republican national committee are settled by a unanimous vote that the column must be lost for adjectives to describe the outrage.

NO CHANCE FOR "ROUGH HOUSE"

Sergeant at Arms Stone Says Disorder Will Not Be Allowed at Coliseum

HAS 800 ASSISTANTS

CHICAGO, June 15.—Delegates to the republican national convention and guests filled with forebodings of a physical stampede will be doomed to disappointment.

The 11,190 persons who will crowd the Coliseum to its capacity must sit meek as lambs, according to Sergeant-at-Arms William Stone, who in private life is collector at the port of Baltimore. He will have 800 assistants to see that the order is obeyed.

"Of course no attempt will be made to stifle the natural enthusiasm which always prevails in a national convention," he said, "but I'm going to see that there is no rough-house work. Any persons caught inciting trouble will be promptly ejected."

Detail of 300 Policemen The sergeant-at-arms will also have a detail of 300 policemen at his constant command. They will be outside the hall, but will be available at an instant's notice.

"We are not looking for a stampede or for trouble, but it is best to be well fortified," Mr. Stone continued. "Packing the hall with 11,190 persons means that it will be about filled to capacity. There will be a number of women guests, and were trouble permitted to start numbers might be injured, possibly killed."

As to a stampede, in the figurative use of the word, to any candidate, Mr. Stone, who has decided Taft leanings, could not give information.

"I guess I'd be up against it on that proposition," he said. "It's a bit out of my jurisdiction."

There is but little likelihood, however of the galleries "stampeding" the delegates by any show of enthusiasm. Were such a demonstration to take place the Taft visitors would be in repugnance, but as the delegates are largely old war horses, trained to go through political fire without wincing, it is unlikely a wave of enthusiasm would cause them to waver.

CHANGE OF PROGRAM AT THE ROYAL THEATRE

The offering at the Royal Theatre for today and tomorrow is up to the usual standard of excellence. The first picture, "The Stronger Mind," shows Prof. Lockley in a demonstration of his wonderful hypnotic power.

Prof. Lockley is acknowledged to be the greatest hypnotist in the world and has solved many mysteries by his wonderful art. That otherwise would never have been fathomed. "In this demonstration he takes a hypnotist who has used his wonderful power over the minds of others to commit a crime. Prof. Lockley gets him under his control and forces him to confess his guilt."

"The Hieroglyphic" is a story of two rascals, whose knowledge of the picture writings of the ancient Egypt-

ROY M'COMAS DIES SUDDENLY

Succumbed to Attack of Appendicitis After Illness of a Few Hours

Roy McComas passed away shortly after midnight this morning at the Calumet and Arizona hospital, where he had been only since Friday night, when he was taken there following a sudden and acute attack of appendicitis.

On account of the suddenness of his illness and its swift progress to death, his passing away was a great shock to his many friends, many of whom did not know that he was ill until it was announced late yesterday afternoon that the tide of life was ebbing, and as the hours of evening came, hope was abandoned, and it was realized that the end was only a matter of a few hours.

McComas was suddenly stricken Friday evening, and was hurriedly taken to the hospital for an operation. The disease was far advanced, and physicians accounted it a serious case, but it was hoped that he would be able to pull through on the strength of his robust constitution. His vitality began to ebb late yesterday afternoon, however, and hope gave way to a fear that materialized with cruel swiftness when the young man passed away a few minutes after midnight.

McComas was a living picture of sturdy, robust young manhood, and was one of the most popular young men in the city. Stricken down without warning while life was yet in the future for him, his death affects his many friends with a pathetic grief, made sharper by its unexpectedness.

Though only twenty-four years of age, McComas was a "raised young citizen of the community. He was a republican and held a place of honor in the party's local and county organizations. In the last election he was a candidate for constable. He was a member of the county central committee of the republican party, and an ardent advocate of the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt.

McComas leaves a mother and a sister, who reside in the Salt River valley, near Phoenix. They were informed of the young man's serious illness yesterday, and they are expected to arrive in Bisbee this morning. Announcement of the funeral arrangements has not yet been made. The father of the young man died little more than a year ago, on a ranch owned by him in the state of Arizona. Young McComas was an Elk.

Plans led them into the clutches of the law, and restored the estate of a wealthy man to the rightful heirs.

"A Son's Devotion" is a story of life in Mexico, vividly showing the innate nobleness of the people of our sister republic.

"The Leading Man" Out of work, he arrives at the boarding house and poses as a great actor and makes a great "hit" until he is shown up in his true colors. The people of the boarding house receive an awful shock when they see him later. "The Fickle Spaniard" on the same reel with the above, is another good wholesome comedy with a laugh at every turn.

It is advisable to try and arrange to come early and get a choice seat. The first show starts promptly at 7 o'clock.

Doctors Said He Would Die

I wish to speak of the wonderful cure that I have received from your noted Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder cure. Last summer I was taken with severe pains in my back and sides, I could not breathe without difficulty. I tried all the different doctors from far and near, but they said it was no use to doctor as I would die anyway. I was at the end of my rope and was so miserable with pain and the thought that I must die that words cannot tell how I felt. One day a friend told me of the wonderful help she had received from Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. After taking half a bottle I felt better. Have now taken ten bottles and am well as I ever was, thanks to Swamp-Root. I wish to tell all suffering people that have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is the best medicine on the market.

All persons doubting this statement can write to me and I will answer them directly.

Yours very truly,
